This map shows Russia's demands on Finland in the Soviet's feverish quest for greater dominion in the Baltic. Estonia and Latvia quickly granted military and naval concessions, but Finland delays sending an envoy to Moscow while she called up her army.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—President Roosevelt said today that United States representations to Soviet Russia were merely an expression of interest and hope that nothing would be done to disturb peaceful relations in the Baltic or the independence of Finland.

The president told a press conference that the diplomatic action was not to be construed in any way as a pressure move by the United States government.

For that reason—because he did not want any misunderstanding, the president said, he was withholding for the time being the text of the representation made at Moscow yesterday by Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt.

The note delivered by the ambassador undoubtedly would be acknowledged, he said.

FINNS PREPARE TO FIGHT RUSS
IF NECESSARY

HELSINKI, Oct. 13.—President Kyösti Kallio issued a decree today ordering all Finnish citizens to hold themselves in readiness to aid the government in non-military pursuits if required by the present emergency.

The decree was issued as Finnish leaders hoped their country would fare better than Baltic neighbors which have become virtual Russian protectorates as a result of Kremlin policies.

The decree put into effect regulations previously drawn providing for wartime emergency.

British Press Praises Chamberlain's Forceful Answer To Nazi Fuehrer

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The British press today enthusiastically praised Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech rejecting Nazi peace overtures.

"As did the House of Commons, the country and the whole Empire will acclaim the emphatic and unanimous and unambiguous answer which the premier made yesterday to Hitler's 'peace proposal' to the Daily Telegraph said."

"Nor will such acclamation be less heartily among all those small but freedom-loving nations who look to Britain as a bulwark of the right to live."

WORTHY OF OCCASION

"It was a speech worthy of the occasion and of the best traditions of British statesmanship. Its terms were measured but were eloquent with sincere conviction and imbued with the strength of high purpose."

"Chamberlain has never spoken with greater effect or with more complete command of the sympathies of his audience, and in the measure that he has been heard there he will himself be heartened by the response."

"He spoke with the authentic voice of the British nation, he faithfully interpreted its mind and heart, and the world, both enemy and friend, now knows from the lips of the British premier where Britain stands and what she intends to do."

SUFFICIENT ANSWER

"If some have asked that our war aims should be enunciated to the world, they now have their sufficient answer. These aims are to prove that the way of the aggressor is hard, and that there can be no expounding with successful aggression to purchase an 'easy truce.'"

"The Daily Express wrote: 'The premier makes a very moving speech. He tells Britain of our irrevocable determination to fight the war to the finish. No spurious proposals of an armistice, no unfulfilled promises from the injured lips, will deflect or move us from this purpose.'"

"The way may be long and the path may be perilous. It is a twisting road and a turning road, and we cannot see all that lies before us. But we know where we are going."

Woman Sends $2,000 to Aid Canada In War

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Officers of the Finance department were enriched by $2,000 Thursday, donated by a New York woman to aid in Canada's war effort.

Financiers, Hon. J. L. Flanagan, announced receipt of the gift from the woman who asked that her name be withheld.

In an accompanying letter she said: "There are no strings attached to this gift. This is just a small effort to ease my position of backing the democracies against the totalitarianism I wish to make no longer, nor yet to buy bonds. In short I wish to keep right away from any notion of wearing fat on the bones of dead men."

"I can not foresee what my own national neutrality laws may forbid or allow in the future, but in like manner, from time to time as my savings permit."

It was the announced Prime Minister Mackenzie King had received a cheque for $2,000 from St. Catharines, Ont., to be used for defence purposes.

NO PEACE WITH HITLER

Reuter's diplomatic correspondence and the correspondence on Mr. Chamberlain's speech agreed on one thing—that no armistice is possible until a treaty with the government has emerged.

"This was an evergreen's mind, but what is it in parliamentary mind is peace on Hitler's terms," the correspondent said.

"Behind all the speeches was the conviction that what might be possible with a German government, that could be trusted was not possible until such a government emerged."

Not Impressed

The acrobatic dancing of blonde, blue-eyed Marion Daniels, pictured as she arrived in New York from Europe, made a deep impression on Adolf Hitler, but Dr. Fuhrer failed to impress the young American, Miss Daniels told reporters. Hitler called her back from Cannes to Munich for a request performance last winter.

He accepted the account of witnesses that the child struck the side of the street car and that the motorist was keeping a proper lookout.

Rogers Says Canada Had No Alternative But to Declare War

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 13.—Canada's decision to enter the war was the only possible decision when the country had to choose between war and the surrender of its principles vital to free institutions and the chosen way of life, Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence, told the graduating class of Royal Military College, at a dinner last night.

Mr. Rogers' speech followed: "When I spoke to the graduating class of this college a few months ago, our country was at peace. War clouds were gathering on the horizon, but there was still a strong hope in our hearts that peace with honor could be maintained."

As I speak to you tonight, armed forces stand guard on our coasts, naval vessels and aircraft are patrolling the approaches to our harbors, but 60,000 men are under arms in our hearts that peace with honor could be maintained."

Once more we have taken up the sword that we sheathed 20 years ago. Canada, by the voice of its parliament and with the approval of its people, has pledged its strongest effort by the side of Britain in a war to preserve the freedom of men and nations.

No effort was spared on the part of the Allied powers to find an honorable path of negotiation that would lead us away from war. We did not want war. We wanted above all the assurance of peace and a guarantee that the reality of peace would not be shattered by repeated threats of aggression.

Our decision was based neither on fear nor on hatred. We based it on a sober judgment of a firm resolve. We were compelled at the last to choose between war and the surrender of principles which are vital to our free institutions and our chosen way of life. With the issue thus joined, only one answer was possible.

RELIEVE CASH JUST

We have given that answer in clear and ringing tones that have echoed around the world. Canada has entered this war with a deep conviction that her cause is just, and a shining faith that whatever trials may be in store for us, that cause must prevail at the end.

I realize that I am speaking to members of the college who are leaving at once to take their places in the armed forces of our country. This is a great and momentous hour for you.

U.S. Sympathetic To Canada, Empire

TRAIL, B.C., Oct. 13.—The United States, while observing full neutrality of action, extends its fullest sympathy to Canada and the British empire in the European war, according to Donald C. Griffin, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

"I am sure the honor of the Royal Military College will be safe in your hands. I am equally sure that you will bring home to Canada this young country of the new world which has decided its own will to stand by the side of Britain and France in the defence of freedom. I wish you Godspeed and a safe return as you leave this college to take up your post of duty."

Heavy Entry Indicated Than In Last Election, Figures Reveal

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—Seven names were added Thursday to the growing list of candidates seeking election Oct. 23 in the Quebec legislative assembly.

With 100 nominations in all, the last provincial election was held. That year voters chose their representatives from 200 candidates.

Two-party battles in almost every constituency were promised as the late showed 77 Union Nationale (government) candidates, 78 Liberal, 38 Action Libérale Nationale and one Conservative, Independent, National, Labor and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Union Nationale and Liberal headquarters announced candidates for Montreal-estimeur Thursday, leaving only the two largest Lake St. John and Magdalen Island constituencies without nominees.

There will be 56 seats at stake October 23 compared with 40 in previous elections since a redistribution bill enacted last spring eliminated four constituencies.

To date, 60 members of the last legislature have signified intentions of seeking re-election. Of these 38 will run as Union Nationale supporters, 11 as Liberals and one each as Conservative, National and Independent.

"An ancient point on a hill is one of several gun barrels. All we saw was a wide steel collar of the same weight, the whole being set in a steel block of concrete 56 feet in diameter."

"It was shown the 'gas mask' of the fortifications—last system of ventilation by which air is drawn in from the outside, purified and circulated throughout at a pressure slightly higher than that outside so that no gas can enter."

The correspondent described wide passages throughout the fortified miniature railways, barracks 200 feet below ground, bakery, kitchen, power station, and up-to-date hospital.

MILES BARRED WIRE

"The front line of the Maginot line was a mile away from the front line of anti-aircraft lines which even the heaviest aircraft could not burst through."

SEVEN NAMES ADDED QUEBEC NOMINATIONS

HEAVY ENTRY INDICATED THAN IN LAST ELECTION, FIGURES REVEAL

MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—Seven names were added Thursday to the growing list of candidates seeking election Oct. 23 in the Quebec legislative assembly.

With 100 nominations in all, the last provincial election was held. That year voters chose their representatives from 200 candidates.

Two-party battles in almost every constituency were promised as the late showed 77 Union Nationale (government) candidates, 78 Liberal, 38 Action Libérale Nationale and one Conservative, Independent, National, Labor and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Union Nationale and Liberal headquarters announced candidates for Montreal-estimeur Thursday, leaving only the two largest Lake St. John and Magdalen Island constituencies without nominees.

There will be 56 seats at stake October 23 compared with 40 in previous elections since a redistribution bill enacted last spring eliminated four constituencies.

To date, 60 members of the last legislature have signified intentions of seeking re-election. Of these 38 will run as Union Nationale supporters, 11 as Liberals and one each as Conservative, National and Independent.

Hullaburton Will Leave $100,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 13.—The will of Richard Hullaburton, globe-trotter and author last night at Memphis, Tenn., was filed for probate in a Chinese junk, was probated here Thursday. The estate, believed worth about $100,000, was largely in trust to the adventurer's parents, with the provision that, following their death, it be turned over to Princeton University to establish a Richard Hullaburton geological library.

Nothing Happened

The Iroquois of course docked safely at New York with its cargo of American refugees from the war zone in Europe. Just as it would have docked if Admiral Raeder had never sent his "warning" to President Roosevelt—unless one of the Admiral's submarine assassins had attacked. If he never was or would have been in danger for a moment from a warship of any of the other belligerents. This both the sender and the receiver of the message well knew.

That Raeder intended to sink the Iroquois is not likely. He could easily not be so demoted, recalling the "Tirpitz" precedent and what followed. He evidently thought people in the United States could be got to take stock in the silly story that British or French ships were to attack the boat. He knows better now, for the command got credit in any quarter. United States destroyers were sent to meet the vessel just in case Raeder should try to give an air of verisimilitude to his bald and unconvincing narrative by staging a submarine attack or an explosion on board. If he could not do that, he couldn't succeed any better in his arrangements than he did in his lying.

Looking Ahead

The last war put the "flying machine" on the list of important means of transport. The present one promises to put Canada in the front rank of nations in the manufacture and use of the relatively new type of carrier.

This is the latest report quite definitely forecast by the plans to make Canada the great air training base of the Empire. The men who are coming here from Britain, Australia and New Zealand to be taught how to fly will require planes in which to learn. And they will have to fly over the enemy lines which they have learned. An indefinitely large expansion of the plane-building industry is plainly on the program, as one of the things that must occur and occur quickly.

And when the time comes, we shall have both the plants and hundreds or thousands of trained and experienced fliers. That Canada will continue in peace-time to produce planes, of commercial types, for sale abroad in great numbers goes without saying. And that air routes in Canada will multiply and air traffic expand beyond all present calculations is equally certain. Population considered, it is not unreasonable to think Canada may in the post-war days lead the world in the production and use of airplanes.

What this will mean in terms of employment, of business development in regions now remote, of the exploitation of resources now not available because of distance, of expanded domestic markets for supplies running all the way from the fuel oil and mining to other equipment—is a subject Canadians may ponder with satisfaction as an offset to the heavy outlay and the economic dislocations incidental to the war.

First—Win the War

A by-election is to be held in Prince Albert, Sask. The seat allotted to that constituency in the provincial registration law is becoming vacant. So far as the Conservative, C. C. F. and Social Credit parties are concerned there will be no contest. The rule adopted in the West Canadian federal by-election is to be followed there by these three organizations, and no opposition offered to the seat being filled by the nominee of the party to which the former holder belonged. Unless some one is nominated under other auspices there will be an acclamation.

This surely is the spirit that should prevail all over Canada at a time when the undivided power of the nation is required to make sure that we will hereafter have the opportunity to organize parties, nominate candidates, and elect legislative bodies as free and independent citizens. For should Hitler win and Canada come under a totalitarian system, we shall be done with all these things. Personal ambitions and political organizations would in that event be snuffed out by edict. There would be only one party, as there is in Germany, and we would be any one who dared to oppose it, on the stump, in the press, over the air, or in whatever rich-take, large or small, the Fuehrer might see fit to create.

The assumption that because Canada is a long way from Germany there is no danger of a victorious Hitler taking charge here is far-fetched. We are in the war and subject to all the penalties of failure to win. There is no territory on earth that would be so well worth grabbing, or whose sparse population would face a more difficult task in defending themselves should Britain and France go under. The obviously sensible thing to do is to subordinate all other considerations to that of making sure they will not go under because of failure on our part to give them all the support possible.

What Premier Dupuis is saying and doing in Quebec must make pleasant reading for the gentlemen in Berlin. They would have his approval by the voters as a sign that Canada is a divided house and a sure indication that our contribution to the Allied cause will be substantially less than it might be expected to be. We cannot afford as a nation to give this kind of encouragement to our enemies and would-be conquerors.

The rule followed in West Calgary and Prince Albert is the right one, and the one to which leaders of the major parties have pledged themselves in the federal election campaign. It is the rule that it will be well also that vacancies in municipal councils be filled by acclamations where possible, and where that is not possible, by elections kept free from controversies tending to cause serious cleavage. We owe it to our Allies and ourselves to concentrate on the war effort, and put minor issues in the background.

Editorial Notes

The other war has made the front page again. After a long absence. The Chinese interrupt the news from Europe to say they broke up a Japanese major offensive in Hunan province and chased the invaders forty miles.

The outlook for selling Alberta coal in Ontario is said to be brighter now that it costs $1.10 to pay for a dollar's worth of Ontario coal sold in Canada. Wall Street's premium on our gold-backed dollar operates as a protective tariff for Canadian industries.

Herr Hitler invited a party of foreign correspondents to view the ruins of Warsaw and ponder "how unwise it was to resist German arms." Perhaps they also saw in the ruins the fate that awaits for saw in the ruins to live within striking distance of the unscrupulous master of the German arms.

A Winnipeg barber who fought through the four years as far as a German flier has applied to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. His home in Poland is situated in the territory grabbed by the Nazis. The incident suggests how popular Nazi rule is among the millions of non-Aryans upon whom it has been imposed.

The Passing Show

By J. S. CONYER

An old proverb that Herr Hitler might write in his hat says, "Lars should have long memories." His needn't be very long. A memory one year or more ago would do him no good and displease. In his speech to the Reichstag a week ago, he made great boasts of the statement "I have never broken a promise." Let

Well might he have been, for he was being handsomely "appeased" by Premier Daladier of France and Prime Minister Chamberlain of England, with a gift of the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia. That meant more than a third of the area of Czechoslovakia—it meant the delivery up of the Czech "Maginot Line" and its munition works and numerous subsidiary munition works. Overjoyed at the magnitude of the appeasement, Herr Hitler said:

Mr. Hart Gives a Lead

Mr. John Hart's (British Columbia Minister of Finance) clear statement that British Columbia has abandoned its old claims to provincial rights for the duration of the war, that it will back the federal government to the limit in winning the war, is much more than a statement of provincial policy. It is a lead to the whole nation.

No province in Canada has been more jealous of provincial rights than British Columbia. No provincial minister more vigorous in opposition to them than Mr. Hart. It was he who led the fight against federal encroachments at every interprovincial conference in recent years. It was he who quashed Mr. Dunning's loan council scheme.

When a government of this character and a man like Mr. Hart are prepared to lay aside all their ambitions, and sink everything in the battle for the sake of the nation, their attitude cannot fail to have a profound effect all over Canada.

And Mr. Hart's statement comes at just the right time, when Quebec is plunged into a general election campaign on the whole issue of the nation's war policy. We may expect to see the statement quoted and required by the opponents of Mr. Dupuis in the Quebec campaign as showing that provinces most insistent on their autonomy in peacetime are willing to sink it in wartime, confident that their rights will not suffer when the war is over.

In effect, Mr. Hart has done what is to say to Premier King that British Columbia stands ready to do anything that Canada requires to win the war, without reservation. After that, the nation will itself come to the aid of the separate jurisdictions of its national and provincial governments. But when the whole nation is charged by outside forces, it stands as one, and postpones its private, family disputes.

Mr. Hart has always been a public man of national stature. He has never served in British Columbia and the nation so well as he is serving it now—Vancouver Sun.

The Voice of England

Looking Backward

The Observer, London (J. L. Gervais): We are as fully pledged to the cause of the Allies as we ever were at that of Belgium. Now, after that, there can be no peace without restitution. After all, there are no imperial examples. Despite our long record of peace, we have not seen Belgium is free today; as she would not have been—nor Holland, nor Denmark, either—if the German violation of the "open paper" and the Schlieffen plan to break France for ever, had triumphed twenty-five years ago or later.

Daily Express (London):

Boers must have trainers, seconds, towel-holders at their corner. And soldiers need civilians behind them. For every soldier in uniform there is a man in dungarees, who work in the factories so that the soldier can fight at the front. Wars are fought on men, manufacturing plants and on the soil. Britain has the power to hit hard and go on hitting. We have the best industrial plant in the world. We have, in proportion to our population, more industrial workers than any other country in this war. And the skill of our workers cannot be equalled. Don't forget the army of the work-shops and the offices. The jobs they are troubled by needless restrictions on their life—the bigger British war-effort in industry is going to be.

Only on Those Terms

News Chronicle (London): Britain and France, having once been forced to embark upon the road of making peace at any price, have determined not to fall off it until Hitlerism is finally smashed. Peoples and governments are absolutely united on that point. Britain and France are ready to make peace at any price, but they have carried out the job in hand. The conditions of peace require the establishment of a decent and responsible German government, the restoration of Czechoslovakia and Polish independence, the abandonment by Germany of all her colonies, and disarmament. On these terms, the German people can have peace for the asking. But if the Nazis imagine that they can first break Poland and then do a deal with us, they are simply deluding themselves.

Forty years ago today (Oct. 13, 1899) the Laurier ministry took a step of vital importance in dominion and empire history—to permit the sending of a volunteer contingent to fight for the Union Jack in the Boer African war. At first Sir Wilfrid Laurier had been opposed to such action, but when public opinion showed a great majority in favor of aiding the mother country, the prime minister yielded. This result was largely the work of Hugh Graham, publisher of the Montreal Star, afterwards Baron Atholstan, who sent thousands of telegrams to prime ministers, magistrates, clergy, soldiers and women leaders asking their opinion. Pages and pages of these replies were published and read in the House of Commons. In doing so he pleased the pro-imperial section of the population, but he angered the Boers. Nationalists, Quebec, and actually toward the end of the harvest, which hurried the issue of power, when, in 1901, the Nationalists returned enough anti-navy members from Quebec to defeat the Liberals.

The Royal Canadian Regiment was quickly organized in 1899, with representatives from all provinces, including one from the west. It sailed from Quebec on Nov. 30, under the command of Colonel General Sir W. D. Otter. It was a fine body of men, and its presence in the character of the R.C.R. is now part of the Canadian permanent militia, is a unit worthy of all praise and not only its duty "somewhere in Canada" while many of its members are busy instructing the recruits to Canada's new army. This expedition in 1899 was good training for 1914, just as the latter will provide lessons for the new war and will prevent the repetition of many mistakes which were made 25 years ago.

There are still a few of the South African contingent left, and each year on the anniversary of the Battle of Paardeberg, in February, they gather and recall their experiences on the Africanveld.

Grooming Takes More Importance With Age

What To Do

Even though my guest room is not in constant use, after a season or two it seems to need brightening touches even more than the rooms we live in constantly. Every thing in the guest room is still good, but in some way or other, it seems to have lost its charm. Please tell me why not?

A READER, I answer—Why not try sprucing the guest room up a bit by changing the color scheme? You can do this without disturbing a thing. Simply add one new and harmonizing shade of color in one of the accessories—a dainty slipper pillow, a shade of the same shade on the bedside table, perhaps a few new toilet articles in the bathroom. You are adding a shiny white lampshade, a plant in a white pot, jar—all small things and costing almost nothing, but surprisingly useful in the sprucing-up project.

Living High

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Children evacuated from the capital are living on the fat of the land in some parts of England. In one village they are staying in hotels, and regularly getting for one guinea $470 a day.

By ALICIA HART

It's true, of course, that the mature woman usually has more real charm and more genuine poise than a very young girl. In fact, in one who has acquired her years gracefully, graciously, there is something quite make-up for the loss of the freshness look she had when she was twenty.

However, no smart mature woman, regardless of her charm, poise or other attributes to an interesting personality, hopes or wants to get by in three shades.

She wishes her weight, believing that it is a simple matter to lose two pounds and a tedious task to try to lose ten or more.

She never tries to make her fingernails or her nail lacquer "do" just one day more. She doesn't finish her appointments with the dentist. She buys a new box of powder, she makes sure that it matches exactly her natural skin tone. Her rouge (certainly she uses a touch of rouge) is the color her cheeks become after exercise or after they have been paled and pinked. Her lipstick harmonizes with the rouge. She uses both sparingly.

She likes a foundation preparation that leaves her complexion soft and satiny smooth and which holds her makeup in place for hours. It never gives her skin a marked look. In fact, all of her cosmetics enhance rather than detract from the texture of her complexion.

White paint can be made whiter by adding a few drops of black paint.

Raising A Sauteed Beef Heart Packs Real Flavor

Will children learn correct speaking more rapidly by A. Hearing others? B. Hearing others? C. Hearing others? D. Hearing others?

While all four of the above answers are needed in influencing the child's learning of grammar, the first, "A," is the most important.

A child who never went to school, never read a book, and never spoke a word of English, can learn to speak just as well as a child who has been to school, never read a book, and never spoke a word of English.

He learns to speak by ear, you might say. He won't know "seen" is always preceded by an object verb, while "saw" can go it alone, but he will say it properly, and others around him habitually do.

The all correcting in the world, and excellent usage, but what matters is that the child learns to speak by ear, and that the child learns to speak by ear.

By this time, you doubt you are wondering about "B," as I say that the study of grammar is not enough to help. I say that because hundreds and even thousands of students in the world, and in this country, have taken up the study of grammar, and even thousands of students in the world, and in this country, have taken up the study of grammar.

No, people don't remember Rule 1 on page 21, or Lesson 13 on active and passive participles. Who does? But they manage to apply a little of everything gained here and there, until they have a pretty solid composite of speech.

Always everything else I choose the influence of good example. That sets the web on which to weave other things. Parents who speak well, help their children to do so. They are the finest text books there are.

Nothing is more vulnerable.

According To Culbertson

It is logical—commendable even—to flout the enemy whenever possible, but a player must be careful not to let his own side in the process. The declarer in today's hand played off one threat, only to fall victim to a vulnerable.

Nothing is more vulnerable.

For dinner tonight—what? That is an ever returning problem to most women. Making menus is a daily task. Here's one part of the answer.

Chicken noodle soup, sauteed beef heart, mashed potatoes, buttered spinach, hearts of lettuce, Russian dressing, apricot rice fluff, coffee and milk.

SAUTEED BEEF HEART (Serves 6)

Two pounds beef heart, 4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 3 tablespoons fat or salad oil.

Soak heart in cold water (1 teaspoon salt in 1 quart cold water) for 1 hour. Drain. Strain 30 minutes, or until tender. Slice. Mix flour and salt. Coat heart with flour mixture. Sauté in fat, about 15 minutes. Serve immediately.

(Lentils or pork hearts may be used.)

APRICOT RICE FLUFF (Serves 6)

One and one-half cups dried apricots, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 cup heavy cream, 3 tablespoons powdered apricot, 1/4 cup cooked rice, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon lemon extract.

Wash apricots. Boil in just enough water to cover for 15 minutes. Water should be evaporated off (it is not drained). Add 1/4 cup sugar and continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add the cream, apricot powder, cinnamon and lemon extract. Mix thoroughly. Fold in apricot rice. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Water sprouts. Boil in just enough water to cover for 15 minutes. Water should be evaporated off (it is not drained). Add 1/4 cup sugar and continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add the cream, apricot powder, cinnamon and lemon extract. Mix thoroughly. Fold in apricot rice. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Serve in sherbet glasses.

JAPS DESTROY ALL PROPERTY LARGE MISSION

United Church Centre in Tselustling is Bombed Mercilessly

CHUNGKING, Oct. 13.—Almost all of the extensive property of the United Church of Canada at Tselustling, in Szechuan province, was destroyed by Japanese bombing planes Thursday, dispatches reaching here said last night.

No Canadians were injured since they fled to the fields at the first air raid signals. Four Chinese helpers, however, suffered injuries. In the city 20 per cent more are believed killed.

BUILDINGS IN RUINS

Tselustling, a bustling centre 120 miles west of Chungking, is the third largest Canadian mission centre in China, ranking behind those at Chengtu and Chungking.

The missions hospital and boys' school were hit ruins along with the residences of E. W. Edmunds, Canadian, and Miss Geraldine, the wife of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sheridan, Burlington, Ont., near the dispensary, and of Edith Spaulding, St. Mary's, Ont., and Laura Hamblin, Winnipeg, were badly damaged.

The church was the mission's only building to escape unharmed.

PLANES FLY IN RELAYS

The reports said Tselustling was mercilessly bombed during Tuesday and Wednesday by 147 Japanese planes flying in relays from a base in Shensi base. There was no estimate of the dead in the town. It was believed more than 1,000 buildings were shattered.

Also attacked in the Tselustling mission are Rev. F. J. Reed, Toronto, and Miss Laura Darby, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Ontario Farmer Spends 2 Weeks Watching Police Search For His Body

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Oct. 13.—Local police spent three last night the strange story of a farmer who spent two weeks in a straw-stick hideaway and watched searchers comb the ruins of his home for his body.

John Charles Cresser, 46, of Highland township, showed up Thursday at the home of his brother, Harry Cresser, after being missing since Sept. 29, the day his farm house was hit by lightning and destroyed. He said he had been kidnapped by two men who put a sack over his head and whisked him away in an automobile.

He said he was kept in a shed at nearby Southampton until a week after morning when he broke his bonds and escaped.

But provincial police noted that his shoes showed no signs of being tramped on the paved road from Southampton to Owen Sound, that there were no marks of blood on his body and that he was apparently in good health.

Police found the hideaway with three limbs forming a house where Cresser lived. From this spot Cresser could easily see his farm and watch the search for his body. Cresser gave no particular reason for leaving home. No charge will be laid against him, police announced.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The government has no intention of discontinuing the ministry of information, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons during question time Thursday.

Sir Alfred Knox, Conservative, asked the prime minister to explain the exact nature of the information ministry and to state whether the government planned to discontinue it for economic reasons. Mr. Chamberlain replied: "The functions of the ministry of information are to give the public the right to know the truth about the world in all its aspects; to ensure that German misstatements are immediately and convincingly denied; and that such denials receive wide currency."

To perform these tasks satisfactorily, as was shown by experience in the last war, centralization and concentration of control are necessary. The answer to the second part of the question is therefore no."

WAR VETERANS GET PREFERENCE IN PAID JOBS

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—The Young Men's Christian Association, the Salvation Army, veterans' organizations and other associations co-operating to set up auxiliary services for the Canadian Armed Forces have agreed that where paid help, full-time or otherwise, is required, veterans are to have the preference.

This announcement was made Thursday by Brigadier W. W. Foster, director of auxiliary services, who said preliminary organization of the directorate has been completed.

Preliminary arrangements have been made for the first phase of the operations of the auxiliary services, including the following:

1.—Provision for entertainment, recreation, sports, educational and religious facilities in camp areas.

2.—Refreshment facilities in the cities for the men and their families.

3.—Housing services for wives and families visiting men in camp.

Thousands of veterans are employed under the security plan as guards or special police. As the service men are released, it is expected that many more veterans will be employed in the same way.

These men are to be employed in the same way as the men in the service.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly
Grid Artillery
Give Us Slush!
Here And There

NAPOLÉON had an idea that his artillery was what paved the way to victory and I have a hunch that Coach Bob Fritz is now satisfied that Napoleon's idea was correct. So far as the Eskimos are concerned, the good right foot of Steve Olander is their heavy artillery.

In the final analysis it was the effective punting of Olander that brought the breaks by which the Eskimos overcame the Bombers. Unexpected kicks on the first and second down or the quick return of a punt are powerful weapons that all teams in the Western Conference have been completely practicing.

If you have a few tackles that can get down under a kick and hit the receiver hard enough to fall him down to his lifetime formation, it only takes a period or two before the receivers get as jittery as a cat at a dog show. Then they start fumbling and the ball game is right on your lap. But your tackles have to hit the man with the ball, not just wring him down. Up until last week the Edmonton tackling was far too polite to make an effective compliment to a kicking attack and that is the reason Fritz was making as much use of punting as he might have.

Given a wet field at Winnipeg on Saturday afternoon, the Eskimos have an even chance of beating the Bombers again. Winnipeg's power lies in forward power and hot-potato laterals, both of which require a dry ball and a fast field. On the other hand, a wet grid and slippery ball make a kicking attack doubly effective—especially when the team using it has a line as powerful as that which Russ Wade has built for the Bombers.

Fritz and Wade may have worked out a system that will stop and run extended by lateral passes, but so far it hasn't been shown in action.

The Drive on the East
It's getting around to the time when some sort of a crude estimate can be made of the West's chances against the East in the Dominion grid final.

Winnipeg will go east again. There is no doubt on that score—and the conference playoff will have nothing to do with it. There is no other club in the circuit with enough eligible players for the Dominion final to make trip east worthwhile for anybody.

The Bombers are not a super-team, and just now the far from convinced that they are the finest power team in the west has ever seen against the Eskimos. However, there is no argument about them being the finest club in the province since they won a Dominion championship last year.

I don't think that these long-range forward passes from Shely to McManis and Shely are going to work more than once or twice against the Eskimos. They are too easy to block. Therefore, the Bombers will have to make deep deception into their aerial attack and be content with counter-attacks. The long drive requires too much work and is too risky for the Bombers to have to go to it more than once or twice. It seems that the Bombers have to get down field and run.

It seems fair to assume that the eastern champion will be as tough as they were last year. The 1938 Bombers were good enough to beat them. This year the Bombers have developed laterals to a fair extent, and their forward passing is better than it was for the last Dominion final, but in other respects I can't see much improvement in the Winnipeg club. The Bombers' tackling so far hasn't been the sort that inspires confidence and I can't honestly rate their line as a powerful one.

Denies Rumor Wanes To Get Air; Sign Wagner Again as Coach

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—The Pittsburgh Pirates who wandered from second down to sixth place in the National Baseball League this year may be in for an overhaul—but their new boss won't admit it. Frankie Frisch, the erstwhile Fordham Flash who succeeds Harlow (Pop) Thayer in the drivers seat, came to Pittsburgh Wednesday for a three-day discussion with President Bill Benavogue. But all they accomplished the first day was signing one old "Flying Dutchman" Honus Wagner as coach for another year.

EYE FOR DEAL
He'll keep an eye out for good deals, Frisch admitted, but beyond that statement he wouldn't budge. Rumors that Paul Waner might go to Larry MacPhail's new club, the Brooklyn Dodgers, were greeted with a broad smile and the comment "That's a new one on me. Benavogue echoed the remark. The same applies to whispering that Brooks might leave to acquire the shortstop Arky Vaughan.

Who, with his brother Lloyd, composed the Pirates' personal bureau of the outfield, was a holdout last spring, a salary dispute. Broome of a trade blossomed into the "Big Fish" signed up. He got a new salary and a new contract. Frisch's new salary was $25,000. Frisch's new salary was $25,000. Frisch's new salary was $25,000.

GOSSIP PERSISTS
Despite Frisch's denial of any plans for either of the Waters, Joppe, persisted around the steel city that they would be among the Pirates' new acquisitions.

The years have taken toll of his three-year-old contract. He is now 34. Frisch's new salary was $25,000. Frisch's new salary was $25,000. Frisch's new salary was $25,000.

U.P. Names Tom Stidham Grid Coach Of The Week

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—He carries a white cane for luck, he had lots more than luck on his side when his team trampled over Northwestern last week-end, 23 to 0. The "Tom" Stidham of Oklahoma.

Terrible luck had been coming out of Evanston, Ill., about the possibility that Northwestern had built. Plumes were expected to be three deep at every position and a fullback named Bill D. Cavanaugh, generally recognized as the best high school football player in the country in the 1937 season. These tales of woe were shattered when Oklahoma wheeled the Oklahoma Sooners into Evanston, gave them a past on the field and sent them out to rest from the scene of the week.

LUCKY CANE
The lucky white cane that he carries is a treasured possession and he has had it since 1938 and he has had it to it ever since. Somebody gave him the cane that befell Oklahoma played. Rice last year Oklahoma won that game, 7 to 6, and was undefeated until it encountered Northwestern in the Orange bowl game at St. Louis. Terrence won, 17 to 6, but the defeat did little to hurt Oklahoma's record.

That Stidham made on the midweek Oklahoma game was a triumph. He was a star in the Orange bowl game at St. Louis. Terrence won, 17 to 6, but the defeat did little to hurt Oklahoma's record.

BLACK HAWKS HAVE SELECT NEW TALENT

Half Dozen from Minor Leagues Impress Paul Thompson

HIBBING, Minn., Oct. 13.—With one week of training out of the way, Chicago Black Hawks National League hockey club prepared for a series of exhibition games in Hibbing and St. Paul before starting the regular campaign at Chicago Nov. 2.

TWENTY-FOUR REPORT
The squad in training camp here numbers 24 and includes 14 rookies, a half dozen of whom are just out of the Canadian amateur ranks and the others from minor professional leagues.

Looking best among the freshmen are Les Cunningham, George Allen, Phil Hergesholmer, Bill Carse and Dick Smith, all of whom were in minor leagues last year.

Paul Thompson, who received the coaching appointment to succeed Bill Stewart after the close of last year's campaign, faced a big task in moulding his club.

Due to the large number of players in camp, Thompson has found it necessary to hold practices twice daily, dividing the men into two squads.

In addition to the large number of rookies, the team includes several players who have been with the club in previous years.

Thompson expects the team to be in good shape for the start of the regular season.

The team will play its first exhibition game in Hibbing on Nov. 2.

Pentland, Foley Named For Rovers

WINNIPEG, Oct. 13.—Manager Lester Patrick of New York Rangers announced five selections from his annual amateur hockey school as classes disbanded. Twenty-five handpicked stars reported for the opening session Monday.

Patrick's new recruits are: Vic Myles, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Bob Pentland, Calgary; Bud Foley, Edmonton; Frankie Parker, Port Arthur; and Len Loree, Sudbury, Ont. Positions the new men would fill in the Ranger hockey organization were not announced.

Myles, former defenceman of Moose Jaw Miller, was voted the most valuable player award in the Saskatchewan Senior League last season. He has been on Rangers' list for several years but did not attend previous school.

K.C. STABLETS
Pentland, defenceman, and Foley, utility defenceman and forward, were members of Edmonton Athletic Club, western Canada junior champions.

Parker and Loree were forwards with Geraldton, U.S. Minor League last season. Loree was named MVP of the junior league in the Pacific Northwest.

Patrick said he had "two or three" others under consideration and further announcement is expected today. One is Norm Larson, 16-year-old Moose Jaw, Sask. Boy.

An expected arrival in Calgary is Taylor of Vancouver, whom Patrick named last night to coach.

EATON'S Annual SALE

Men's Winter Overcoats

Style! Color! Comfort!

Such values are the culmination of months of planning. Months of careful research of the markets with the result that we made extensive special purchases of overcoats on particularly favorable terms. With winters in mind, we specified thick warmth in cloths of outstanding quality—and procured them! Moreover, by placing orders with makers when their factories were idle, we secured another saving which is passed on to you. Heavy imported wool coatings that defy winter winds or biting frost. Just get into one of these coats; examine the workmanship, the rich lustrous linings! Monotones, checks, some colorful fancy weaves. Greys, blues, browns.

MATERIALS: Chinchilla, Alpine, Elysian, Velour, Scotch Tweeds, Irish Fleece Cloths, Frieze, Fur Fabric and English Meltons... all are heavy wool weaves.
